- The admissions should reference back to the graduate website.
- They need their own forms.
- There should be graduate specific information.
- There is a separate page for the graduate students so there should be an easier way to get that information.

• They think the graduate students need more precisely information, which can be found on the graduate website of the U of R, as they can't STAKEHOLDER find the admission information related to their interested program on the

GRADUATE

• There can be a page on the engineering website where graduate students can go to be redirected onto the graduate admissions page.

engineering

website.

DO

• They told us they want to be able to find specific informations and forms that are specifically for graduate Engineering students, without having to go to the Postgraduate Faculty page

Problem statement

Stakeholder

Graduate Students

NEEDS A WAY TO

Need

access information regarding their program

BECAUSE

it is not located on the main engineering website of the U of R

Insight

Insights

While engineering graduate students ARE part of the engineering program, for things like admissions, there is a separate page to apply.

There should be a link that leads the graduate students to where they need to be in order to get access to information.